

Save time, increase efficiency and improve customer communication

Bring all your data together into one central space, so you can create simple, attractive catalogues, industry specific exports and product specsheets. All this, alongside giving customers, suppliers and business contacts full or limited access to these assets and your product data.

Our favourite things you can do with SkooCloud

- 1 A collaborative location to store all your product data and digital assets – there's your master data
- 2 Centralise your product attributes from multiple data sources - ERP, internal departments, suppliers
- 3 Extend your product information with non-ERP attributes
- 4 Bring together all the media associated with your products – images, videos, PDFs, the lot
- 5 Display and download your associated media in PixSell and InterSell
- 6 Take the stress out of product image requests by sending custom download links to any email address
- 7 Allow your customers to self-serve with the ability to register, login and download relevant product images and data themselves
- 8 Quickly create ad-hoc catalogues from a template, using selected product images and attributes
- 9 Generate product spec sheets using a standard template or design your own custom one.
- 10 Build and export New Line Form data to your customer's specification, without the headache
- 11 Easily export product image URLs for import into third party websites and keep everywhere up-to-date
- 12 Populate your product pages in PixSell and InterSell with non-ERP attributes
- 13 Share any of your product data with other applications - customers, stock aggregators, POS etc
- 14 With our unique SkooJump function, B2B customers logged in to InterSell websites can 'jump' into SkooCloud and download images, PDFs and data
- 15 Auto-email your customers with images associated with a PixSell sales order
- 16 Send images and PDF catalogues directly from your PixSell catalogue
