PX PixSell

iPad catalogue and ordering app factsheet

Every sales representative would work more efficiently if they had access to updated customer account information, could omit the daily admin and leave the heavy catalogues behind. Your head office staff will breathe a sighs of relief as the phone calls requesting stock levels disappear and orders are electronically imported into the back office system with no intervention required. With PixSell, this is will be a reality for both mobile sales teams and head office - reassurance that reps are fully equipped to sell.
